The image displays a single-staff violin score for the piece "Hey Soul Sister". The music is written in treble clef with a key signature of three sharps (F#, C#, G#) and a 4/4 time signature. The score is divided into measures, with measure numbers 6, 10, 15, 19, 23, 27, 31, and 35 indicated at the beginning of their respective lines. The notation includes various rhythmic values such as eighth and sixteenth notes, often beamed together, and rests. Several measures contain triplet markings, indicated by a bracket with the number "3" underneath. The piece concludes with a final triplet in measure 35.

The image displays four staves of violin sheet music, each beginning with a measure number (74, 77, 80, 83) and the instrument label 'Vln.'. The music is written in G major (one sharp) and features a variety of rhythmic patterns and technical challenges. The first staff (74) contains two triplet markings. The second staff (77) includes a triplet marking. The third staff (80) shows a sequence of eighth and sixteenth notes. The fourth staff (83) features two triplet markings and concludes with a double bar line.

(Sorry if things don't quite match up exactly - pyrofilic takes some liberties on rhythm that are hard to transcribe precisely. I also left out some of the turns by accident but don't have time to go back and find them all... good luck learning this! -- Ben Chan)
